Abstract

Legal System Of The Entrance And Residence Of Foreigners In Jordan

Emad Hamed Al-Rawashdeh

Mu'tah University, 2006

This study deals with the legal system of the entrance and residence of foreigners in Jordan and, in particular, the legal procedures followed for organization. It aims to examine the concept of the foreigner, define his legal status and the authority of the State to determine such status.

The study shows that the entrance and residence of foreigners in Jordan is carried out in accordance with the common terms and conditions among all states, or as some wish to call the organizational means for the entrance and residence of foreigners.

The study also shows the exempts offered by the states to exempt some foreigners from such terms and conditions for political, diplomatic or comity of nations considerations.

The study concludes that Jordan is one of the states which harmonize between what the international law imposes of rights to foreigners and the liberty of the state to organize such rights, so that they conform with its sovereignty and protection of its citizens' rights and interests. It also concludes that the decisions of the administration concerning the topic are subject to the control of the Supreme Court of Justice ensuring the right of foreigners in Jordan to resort to the Law, since the right to sue is one of the acknowledged minimum rights of foreigners.
